PLATFORM FALLS WITH THIRTY PERSONS.

Bad Accident at Macon, Georgia.—Fourteen of the Victims Recovered—Noise Made Frightened People a Mile Distant From the Scene—The Dead and Injured.

Macon, Ga., Nov. 20.—Thirty persons, 2,000 bales of cotton and hundreds of tons of heavy timber all went down in one loud crash at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the Central railroad compress in this city. Fourteen injured persons, all employees of the compress, have been removed from the wreckage, but it is thought others are beneath the cotton and lumber, and if so they are dead or will be before they can be extricated. The injured are: Joe Price, hip crushed; James Little, right leg crushed; Ark Dickens, right hip crushed; Richard Cherre, shoulder crushed; Robert Dickson, face burned; John Williams, face cut; L. W. Williams, head badly crushed; L. W. Williams, head badly bruised; Wash Burney, face burned; Will Garrett, cut over left eye; Jim Brown, left leg badly crushed; Will Brown, leg crushed.

Superintendent A. A. Gordon was in the middle of the platform superintending the trucking of cotton and went down in the midst of it all, but by a miraculous escape received only bruises on the legs and arms. Several employees are missing and it is feared they are beneath the wreck.

The platform was over 20 feet high, 850 feet long and 140 feet wide. Over 500 feet gave way, the supports being rotten. It is believed that two teams and their drivers were caught beneath the platform, as it extended over Poplar street, a public thoroughfare, and the teams are said to have been seen going under the platform just before it fell.

SILVER PLAN DEFEATED.

The Knights of Labor Refuse to Put 16 to 1 in the Preamble.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The Knights of Labor refused to place free coinage at 16 to 1 in the preamble of the constitution to which every man must swear allegiance when he enters the order. Almost every delegate is a free-silver man, but the conservatives urged that the order must not be weakened by excluding any workman who holds opposing views on a strictly political question. The assembly indorses the agitation for free coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1, but says that the subject of monetary reform is already fully covered in the preamble.

The proposition against dual membership was adopted after it had been amended so as to apply to brewers alone. There are nearly 100 assemblies of brewers Knights of Labor who must now choose between the Knights and the federation, including the brewers of Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis.

TWO IOWA BANKS FAIL.

Third Concern Dragged Down—Crash Came Suddenly.

Sioux City, Iowa, Nov. 20.—The First National bank of this city closed its doors at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, as a result of heavy withdrawals and inability to realize on assets. Although the institution has long been considered weak the crash came suddenly. Since Monday morning $60,000 of deposits have been removed. The officers say the concern is solvent, and that creditors will be paid in full. Until the arrival of the bank-examiner no definite statement of assets and liabilities can be made.

As a result of the First National's failure, J. K. Prugh, a large local and retail grocery dealer, was forced to assign later in the day to C. M. Swan. Assets, $41,500; liabilities, $28,000.

At 4 p. m. the Sioux City Savings bank, which was closely allied with the First National, also succumbed. F. B. Goss was appointed receiver on application of Charles Breun, a stockholder. No attempt was made to prepare a statement until after banking hours, and thus far nothing definite is known of its conditions. It is claimed the assets will cover the liabilities.

The failures caused considerable excitement and withdrawals were heavy at several other banks. It subsided, however, and no further trouble is anticipated. Receiver Goss of the Sioux City Savings bank said that the deposits would run little over $100,000. He was sure the depositors' claims would be paid, and he believed the shareholders would lose little, if anything.

Son Suspected of Murder.

Liberty, Mo., Nov. 20.—Suspicion directed against William Foley as the probable murderer of Mrs. John Foley and Jennie Foley, his mother and sister, Wednesday, grows stronger. Circumstances tend to show that young Foley was at home on the night of the murder, at or very near the time at which the crime is supposed to have been committed, he having left the company of his sister, whom he had escorted to a neighbor's. However, the vigilance committee is still at work, and Young Foley has not been arrested.

Berlin, Nov. 20.—In the reichstag Thursday the debate on dueling in the army and the Brusewitz incident was resumed. Herr Rickert, liberal, urged the necessity of prompt reform in the civil law. Baron von Hohenberg expressed the opinion that the authoritative declaration of the emperor had effectually set the matter at rest.

Herr Lengmann concluded his speech with a warning against "too frequent allusion to self-defense, since there is no such thing as self-defense for the people," a sentiment which was warmly applauded.

The minister of war, Gen. Von Gossler, then said that he had accepted the bill of his predecessor, Gen. Bronsart von Schellendorf, to reform the military courts. Continuing, the war minister said: "The utterances of the press in the Brusewitz affair have compelled me to send to the proper quarters a whole series of complaints against civilians for insulting the army, and if the press continues in this strain it will have to reckon with the silent but ever-growing exasperation of the army."

The minister of justice, Dr. Schoenstedt, said that it was most difficult to draft new statutes against dueling, adding that the sentiment underlying the practice of dueling was stronger than kings or laws. Religion alone, he continued, could overcome dueling.

The motive, as shown by the evidence of the state in the trial just ended, was a life-insurance policy for $2,500, which Hull had prevailed upon his wife to take out in his favor. SMELL OF GORE MADE BEAST FURIOUS.

Man Who Held Him Trampled to Death—Elmore P. Hull Deal at Fort Atkinson—Beloit Man's War Time Claim Paid—News of Rock, Walworth Green and Jefferson.

Delavan, Nov. 20—A horse that had been crazed by the smell of blood, killed James Capen, of this city. Capen died yesterday as the result of injuries inflicted a week ago. He was walking by the park when he was called upon by Charles Spooner to hold a fractious horse. He responded and no sooner got hold of the animal's head than trouble began. Capen had been butchering and his hands were covered with blood, the scent of which seemed to infuriate the horse as he immediately began to rear and plunge. Capen held on as long as possible but was finally thrown directly under the animal's feet and before he could be extricated had received injuries which caused his death. No one attaches any blame to Mr. Spooner as eye-witnesses say that he repeatedly called to Capen to let go, which had he done so, would have prevented the accident.

ELMORE P. HULL NO MORE.

The Former Janesville Man Passes Away at Fort Atkinson.

Elmore P. Hull, formerly of this city, died at Fort Atkinson, aged fifty-six. He had long been identified with the business interests of that city. About a year ago he was stricken with paralysis.

He was born in Bigelow, Chapel county, Ohio, April 14, 1846, and came to Wisconsin in 1858, settling in Janesville. In 1864 he married Miss Eliza Dewey, of Janesville, and in 1867 came to Fort Atkinson to engage in business with L. O. Haskell, of Jefferson, continuing with him about ten years.

He has been a member of the M. E. church for thirty-two years and an official member of that society most of the time while residing at Fort Atkinson. He leaves a wife and four children—Lulu, Nellie and Mabel and Elmer, an only son.

GOT NO TRACE OF THE ROBBERS
Green County Man Identifies the Horse Found at Beloit.

Monroe, Nov. 20—The abandoned horse had buggy discovered near Beloit, was identified yesterday as the outfit stolen from F. Klass of Spring Grove, Sunday night. No goods were recovered and no clue to the robbers was found. The thieves who entered the store of O. K. Lashelle, at Oakley, are supposed to have been tramps, as their old clothes were found in the buggy. The supposition is that the horse was stolen to get them across the state line without delay. The horse had been turned loose and was found in a barn yard two miles from Beloit Monday morning sweating and panting, showing that it had been driven hard, and had been abandoned but a short time.

CLAIM OF LONG AGO IS PAID.

Dr. Bell, of Beloit, Reimbursed By The War Department.

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 19—Dr. Samuel Bell, of this city, today received a check for $12.82 from the War department at Washington, indemnifying him for an unjust cockage of pay while he was an army surgeon at Atlanta in 1865. In order to meet an urgent demand for hospital accommodations he appropriated a small tent, and its cost was taken out of his salary. He filed a complaint and a claim for reimbursement at the time, and today, after the lapse of thirty-one years, he received his money back, less slight attorney fees, and without interest.

this year, when we bought our WINTER GARMENTS. Our trade in Cloaks was never more satisfactory. We have shown all the fall, the largest assortment of popular priced CAPES and JACKETS. New things have been pouring in upon us for the past ten days; several purchases that we made because we could get the lots at our own figures almost, because overstocked manufacturers were anxious to sell.

If we see a woman pass by with one of our Jackets on you cannot fail to notice the stylish cut; it distinguishes all of ours. Ours are made right, fit right, and are reliable. Are showing a very attractive line at $4 to $12.

No other house here can show half as many CAPES. Our long Plush Capes with thibet collars at $10 are great value. Equally good values up to $18. Strong line of Cloth Capes at $5 to $20, beautiful novelty cloths.

CURTAINS

We have received about 200 pairs of rich, handsome things in TAPESTRY. Our number at $3.00 is exceptional; large range of colorings. Others at $4 to $15. Some mixed with tinsel are real works of art—high novelties. When you want Curtains you have a stock right at your very door that would do credit to a city of 100,000 people.

SUES H. E. BUCKLEN FOR $50,000

W. A. Cushman, a former Racine hotel man, has been sued by H. E. Bucklen, a Chicago millionaire, for $50,000 damages.

W. A. Cushman, formerly of Racine and a well known hotel man, has brought suit in the Elkhart circuit court against H. E. Bucklen, a Chicago millionaire, whom Janesville people will remember as a friend of E. D. Miller's, for $50,000 damages. Cushman went from Racine to Elkhart and leased the Bucklen hotel, one of the finest hostleries in the state. The relations between him and Mr. Bucklen were not amicable and Cushman became involved in litigation, which the complaint recites brought about his financial ruin, he having lost $25,000 as the result of legal complication. It is further alleged that Mrs. Cushman, who is well-known in Racine social circles, lost her health in consequence of the nervous strain to which she was subjected, and a demand for $50,000 damages is made by Mr. Cushman for the loss of the companionship of his wife.

BEEWERS THINK THEY ARE SAFE

No Attempt to Increase the Beer Tax Likely to Be Made

The suggestion that Secretary Carlisle may recommend to congress the imposition of an additional tax of $1 a barrel on beer, thus doubling the present tax, has caused considerable comment in political circles, but the brewing interests of the country do not appear to be frightened at it, deeming it impossible that the present congress would seriously entertain the proposition even if it were made. In the last congress the proposition to double the beer tax was made in connection with the Wilson revenue bill, but it did not come up at the last session of congress, the same body which is to convene again next month.

'THE MAN IN THE IRON MASK.'

Romantic Play To Be Seen at the Myers Grand This Evening.

There will be a fine dramatic treat at the Myers Opera House this evening, when Donald Robertson and Miss Brandon Douglass will be seen in Mr. Robertson's adaptation of Dumas' great story, "The Man in the Iron Mask."

The production embraces a dual part, which is taken by Mr. Robertson with ease and versatility. His transmission from the passion-consuming, frank and noble lad to the man, conscious of his own dignity and strength, and to the regal bearing of the king, is masterful. He displayed a fineness of feeling and a depth of sentiment which made his interpretation of the parts all that could be desired. He is fortunate in having the support of Miss Brandon Douglass, whose conception of a womanly woman in an age of intrigue and corruption is most excellent, and nowhere is this more forcefully shown than in her struggle between her love and devotion to the prisoner of state and her duty as one consecrated to God's work.

GOULD AND THE MATCH TRUST.

A good deal of space has been wasted on stories about war between Eddie Gould and the Diamond Match Co.—the "match trust."

Nobody who knows how well the Goulds love a trust will bother about the chance of war. There never was a Gould who wouldn't rather lose money backing a trust, than make money smashing one. The trouble with Eddie Gould is that the Diamond Match Co. will not let him in on the ground floor. He has invested about $25,000 in a small match factory of his own, in Passaic, N. J., and has a big building without machinery, in Ogdensburg, N. J. He is cutting the price of matches in New York state, but his main attack is made through the newspapers. The minute he gets chance at a block of "match trust" took the trouble will be at an end—and somebody less shrewd than Gould will be saddled with the New Jersey factory. There need be no glorifying over the public spirit shown by the youngest of the Goulds.

THE NEW CANNON.

Eight shots were fired at a stationary target from the new guns in New York harbor and one was effective.

In other words, if a foreign battle ship had consented to stand perfectly still while seven "sighting shots" were being tried, it would have been jarred considerably by the eighth.

The battle ship, pitching and tossing in the waves, would hardly make as high a percentage as this, however, were it not that New York City is a considerable larger target.

It will need a good many rifled cannon to defend our seaboard cities if the New York test is any criterion.

WILL J. McCONNELL COLLAPSES

Temperance Lecturer Made Ill By the Free Use of Morphine.

Will J. McConnell, the theatrical agent and temperance lecturer, who is well known in this city, and recently conducted an aggressive temperance campaign at Clinton, is in Pittsburgh to attend the murder trial of W. J. Richter, who killed Mr. McConnell's twelve year old son in July. As he was leaving the court room at the noon recess he collapsed.

He was taken to the Homenopathic Hospital, where the doctors found he was in a state of absolute prostration due to morphine poisoning. He had so much morphine in his system that he was dosed for two hours with all kinds of antidotes before he was restored to a condition of consciousness. It was thought Mr. McConnell had attempted suicide, but he denied this.

He says he has been using morphine to quiet his nerves and allay his craving for strong drink. For four months during the recent campaign, he says, he lectured in South Dakota, in aid of the pending prohibition amendment.

HUNGER AND CANNIBALISM.

Desire to Eat a Fellow-Man Stronger at Sea than on Land.

Then it comes to pass, when the moment of keenest agony is reached, that the starving man begins to eye his companion with the wolf glare of a beast of prey, says Science for All. His pangs become paroxysmal. During their greatest intensity there springs up within him a fierce impulse to slay his neighbor that he may feed on his flesh and slake his thirst with his blood. This terrible prompting to cannibalism, it may be noted, is, however, rare, save in cases of famine from shipwreck. Although it is customary to regard it as a common feature of starvation and to make thrilling statements of the frequency with which even mothers will, under the goad of hunger, kill and eat their children, and although startling assertions to this effect have been made by historians of great sieges, yet it ought to be said that, as a general rule, well authenticated cases of cannibalism among civilized people will be found to occur only at sea. They are very rarely found on land. And what is more curious still, whenever famished, shipwrecked men set foot on shore, no matter how desolate and barren may be their rock of refuge, they seem as if by magic to banish from their minds the very idea of anthropophagy, or man-eating, and that, too, though they might have been resignedly contemplating it as an imperative necessity a few hours before. In the case of English Prenties of the 84th regiment and his companions, who were wrecked on the barren island off Cape Breton in 1780, the difference between famine on shore and on sea is curiously exemplified. Prenties records that they were able to endure the most fearful pangs of hunger without even so much as a thought of resorting to cannibalism for relief, so long, however, and only so long as they kept on land. But when they took to their boats—and it was not once merely that they experienced this—in order to escape from their rock-bound prison, though they were not a whit worse off for food than they were on land, yet the moment they put to sea with one accord they began to think of killing and eating one of their number. On the other hand, when they found their attempt to escape futile and put back to shore, whenever they landed, the horrible idea of cannibalism seemed to vanish.

FREE TO EVERY MAN

THE METHOD OF A GREAT

TREATMENT FOR WEAK-

NESS OF MEN.

WHICH CURED HIM AFTER EVERY-THING ELSE FAILED.

Painful diseases are bad enough, but when a man is slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental tortures are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no let up to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible and under such a strain men are scarcely responsible for what they do. For years the writer rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of sexual weakness until it was a question whether he had not better take a dose of poison and thus end all his troubles. But providential inspiration came to his aid in the shape of a combination of medicines that not only completely restored the general health, but enlarged vigor, and he now declares that any man who will take the trouble to send his name and address may have the method of this wonderful treatment free. Now when I say free I mean a self-sealing envelope. I want every weakened man to get the benefit of my experience.

I am not a philanthropist, nor do I pose as an enthusiast, but there are thousands of men suffering the mental tortures of weakened manhood who would be cured at once could they but get such a remedy as the one that cured me. Do not try to study at how I can afford to pay the few postage stamps necessary to mail the information, but send for it, and learn that there are a few things on earth that although they cost nothing to get they are worth a fortune to some men and mean a lifetime of happiness to most of us. Write to Thomas Slater, box 494, Kalamazoo, Mich., and the information will be mailed in a plain sealed envelope.

THE LEAF BUSINESS IS "PICKING UP"

J. F. WILLEY TELLS OF ELECTION RESULTS

Editor of "The Leaf" Says That Eastern Markets are More Lively and That the Local Effect is Beginning To be Felt—T. B. Earle is Busy.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Thinking that your readers will be pleased to know what effect the election had upon the tobacco business of the county, I will give a few facts gleaned from trade exchanges. New York city is the principal cigar leaf tobacco market in this country and previous to the election, the aggregate sale per week, was 1,500 cases of all kinds. Last week there were sold in that market 8,000 cases of domestic leaf, 600 bales of Sumatra and 2,500 bales of Havana. Of the domestic leaf, over one-half was Wisconsin '93 and '95, which brought good figures. Other large markets of the east report greatly increased activity, more especially Philadelphia, Reading, Lancaster, Boston and Chicago. Among the cigar manufacturers in all the great manufacturing centers, such as New York, Philadelphia, Birmingham, Boston, Chicago, Canton and other cities, there is a general resumption of business and many factories have orders enough on hand to keep full forces at work for several months. In Reading, for instance, every factory has a full force at work on full time. 2,500 men are employed.

Local Effect Beneficial

Locally the effect is not so marked but a better condition prevails and a gradually increased activity is expected.

J. L. and M. F. Green of this city, and Reading, report their sales of leaf tobacco greater during the first ten days after election than during the whole month of October. This firm will begin work on the '96 crop in this city about the first of the year and will have steady work for fifty persons for four months. George H. Ramrill begins assorting about the first of the year and will furnish employment for seventy-five persons for six months. Other Janesville packers are buying and will doubtless furnish work for several hundred persons after New Years. Most of the contracts do not call for deliveries before Dec. 15, and soon after assorting will become general. The warehouses will soon become busy hives of industry, an important fact to the laborers of this city.

J. F. WILLEY.

T. B. Earle Finds Trade Good.

Thomas B. Earle, the well known Edgerton tobacco buyer, arrived in the city last evening from Brodhead, after making a tour of Green, Dane and Rock counties. Mr. Earle, who is buying for a large Eastern firm, reports buying in this locality active. During the past four days Mr. Earle has done his share by purchasing 1,058 cases.

E. attended in a body, and marched as far as Washington street. The Rev. Dean McGinnity officiated, and the interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery. CRAZY WOMAN'S SUIT WAS POSTPONED

QUEER CASE CAME BEFORE JUDGE BENNETT.

Plaintiff Would Not be Sworn and Showed Very Plainly That She Was Deranged so the Court Ordered the Action Continued and Recommended Treatment.

Judge Bennett is not trying suits in which insane people figure these days, and so adjourned a case indefinitely before the Green county circuit court adjourned yesterday with the afternoon session.

The case of Anna Marty against Conrad Marty was the one continued. Several witnesses were examined before the plaintiff was called to the stand. When she took the stand, she would not take the oath, but began a silly laugh. She refused to answer questions asked by Judge Bennett, which was the first inkling the court got of her weakness of mind. He stated that he could not try a case of an insane person against a sane person, and continued the case recommending that the plaintiff be given some treatment. Her mother, Mrs. Elmer, was given the custody of the children, the defendant to pay one dollar a week toward their maintenance.

Mrs. Marty was suing her husband for divorce alleging cruel and inhuman treatment, and desertion. The couple had two children.

Mrs. Marty refused to take the oath when Judge Bennett told her to be sworn, and her attorney J. M. Becker, admitted that she had refused to consult with him about her case. J. J. Cunningham, of the firm of Mahoney & Cunningham, was one of the defendant's attorneys.

WAS NOT THE FAMOUS RILEY.

Man Who Was Arrested Did Not "Kape th' Hotel."

It was not "Mr. Riley they spake of so highly."

It was not "Mr. Riley who kapes th' hotel."

And so known to song and fame, but quite another Riley—the one who appeared in the municipal court this morning.

The one who "kapes th' hotel" was either Mr. Pat Riley, or a fictitious person—Leader Cochran, of the court orchestra, being a bit uncertain whether or no on this point—but the Mr. James Riley who appeared in court was "there in person, and in custody of the arresting officer."

Mr. Riley is said to be a "man-o'-all-trades," and is married. Mrs. Riley is said to be an invalid. The couple made Clinton their home until a few months ago, when they came to this city. Mr. Riley soon secured work in the country, while Mrs. Riley engaged rooms at the O'Neill residence on South High street.

Riley came home from the country Wednesday with a good sized roll of money that he had saved up and after calling on his wife, it is charged started out on a drunk. Later he called at the O'Neill home and tried to "run the place." A telephone message sent to jail was answered by Chief Acheson as Sheriff Appleby.

The centurions fell upon the hilarious Mr. Riley and lodged him in jail. Today a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct was preferred against him and Judge Phelps imposed a fine of $1 and costs.

"I wasn't very drunk, your Honor," said Riley. "I walked to the jail with Mr. Acheson."

"But we didn't walk, judge," said the chief. "I took Mr. Riley down in a buggy."

Whereat Mr. Riley looked sore distressed.

Judge Phelps was hearing the case of W. B. Conrad against George Van Etta today. The suit is brought to collect $121.75.

F. L. STEVENS GETS HIS PAY.

Real Estate Man Is Given Judgment Against a Client.

Frank L. Stevens, the real estate man, was awarded his commission of fifty dollars. A jury of six in Justice M. P. Richardson's court this morning, found for the plainiff in the suit of F. L. Stevens against Henry Villine, a well known Rock county farmer.

Mr. Villine and his wife owned a valuable farm in this county, and Mr. Stevens placed the property in Mr. Stevens' hands to be sold. During the time that Mr. Stevens was looking up a buyer, Mr. Villine disposed of the farm himself, and Stevens did not get his commission. Mr. Stevens brought suit, and the case was tried once before. Then the jury failed to agree.

W. H. HUGHES HURT BY CORN CUTTER

HAND CAUGHT WHILE FEEDING THE MACHINE.

But For the Prompt Action of James Drummond, Who Threw Off the Belt He Might Have Lost His Whole Arm—Bert Clark Gets a Hard Fall.

William H. Hughes, of the Leader Dairy, accidentally caught his left hand in a corn cutting machine this morning, and sustained painful injuries.

The accident took place at 11 o'clock at the farm. Mr. Hughes was feeding the machine, which is operated by horse power, while James Drummond was assisting him in the work.

Mr. Drummond heard Hughes call for help and he at once threw the belt from the machinery, to which action Mr. Hughes probably owes the fact that his whole hand was not torn off.

Mr. Hughes was at once brought to the office of Dr. E. E. Loomis, Dr. W. H. Palmer assisted Dr. Loomis, and Mr. Hughes was put under the influence of chloroform. For two hours the doctors worked in dressing the hand, which was quite badly mangled. The ends of three fingers had to be amputated.

Bert Clark of Rock Prairie, while riding on a threshing machine was jolted off and fell a distance of ten feet. He landed in front of the front wheel, but the horses were stopped before the wheel passed over him. Dr. James Mills, who was called, found the young man badly cut and bruised about the head and shoulder.

Ruskin Same Again.

Following close upon the heels of the news of the death of Sir John Millais, the eminent English artist, comes a seemingly well authenticated report from England that John Ruskin, who for many years has been considered hopelessly insane, has recovered his mental faculties so far as to resume his literary work and is today as sound in mind as ever and as strong physically as a man of 77 could be expected to be. Ruskin, it will be recalled, years ago surrendered his young and beautiful wife to Millais, who was then a young portrait painter and the special protegee of the great art critic.

Then he returned to London and found no difficulty in getting a minor position on the staff of Punch.

AN ENGLISH BOOM.How the Town of Barry Grew in Ten Years.

The New World is not the only place where mushroom towns spring up. In England several considerable cities have been created by new railroads. Of these Crewe is perhaps the most notable. Fifty years ago it was an insignificant and unprogressive village with about a couple of hundred inhabitants. To-day it is an important and thriving town with a population of some thirty thousand. What may be fairly be called its creation was entirely due to the London & North-western Railway Company, whose works cover about thirty acres and employ from seven to eight thousand artisans. Another remarkable instance is that of Barry, in Glamorganshire. As late as 1886 it was the habitation of a few fisher families numbering some fifty souls. The construction of a railway and dock was then commenced for the purpose of the conveyance and shipment of coal from the Rhondda Valley. Barry is now a town of 25,000 inhabitants, with municipal gas and water works and all modern improvements.

The Special Reduction Sale Of Dinner Sets at Wheelock's

Crockery store closes Thanksgiving day. They have gone well but the stock was so large that a good assortment is still to choose from. One favorite set is of Ridgway's English make, of which we imported a crate expecting to sell them at $15.00. Ridgway's is a fine make, the goods are not clumsy, but rather thin semi-porcelain. Gold lines filled in colors, new shape, up-to-date all around and would stand every day wear and never craze. We put them on sale at $13.00 instead of $15 and they sold well. During this sale they go for $10.40. This is only one set of many from $4.00 to $45.00.

In Theory and Practice.
 "They talk about women being impractical!" she exclaimed, "but they ought not to."
 "What has set you thinking about that?" inquired the neighbor at whose gate she was stopping.
 "My husband. He's been talking about the rise in wheat. He's explained all about the purchase and sale of millions of bushels of wheat and billions of barrels of flour and the law of supply, but when it comes to remembering to stop at the bakers' to tell him to send around a four-cent loaf of bread, he's no more to be depended on than a baby."—Washington Star.

Made a Mistake.
 "You say she's a kleptomaniac?"
 "Oh dear, no."
 "Why, you certainly did say so."

MICROBE INSURANCE.

Novel Business Undertaken by a New Company in New York.

One of the latest and most original forms of insurance is a Plumbing and Sanitary Insurance company. It is an insurance against the deadly microbe. Hitherto if the tenant suspected the sanitary condition of his house he could request experts of the board of health to examine the premises, and their tests would settle the question whether it was safe to live in the house. An order to the landlord to repair plumbing is peremptory, and, if disobeyed, can be followed by the vacating of the premises or the imprisoning of the landlord. The new company proposes to protect both landlord and tenant by periodical visits and tests.

Examinations will be posted in a prominent place just as the tests of elevators and boilers are posted. Nowadays no one dreams of employing an elevator that has not some sign of a moderately recent examination of its condition and safety.

The tests for plumbing are simple and positive. They consist chiefly in forcing smoke or peppermint through the pipes. If any room in the house shows the sign of an odor of smoke or peppermint, it is a positive proof that there is a leak in the pipes, and wherever the smoke can penetrate sewer gas can also get through and do its work.

The antimicrobe company will be prepared to furnish physicians, thereby following the well known custom in vogue in China of paying for medical attendance while one is healthy and stopping the payment when one is sick. The movement is a kind of medical trust or health syndicate.

WEYLER IN THE FIELD.

Even Though Maceo Should Perish the Battle For Freedom Would Not Flag.

General Weyler has at last taken the field. Will he achieve greater success against General Maceo than his predecessors, Garcia, Navarro, Arolas, Beru, Echague and many others? It is doubtful. Some of the generals just referred to are men of greater military ability than Weyler showed himself to be during the Carlist war in the north of Spain.

But even should the renowned Cuban leader meet his death in this struggle, in which all the odds except his superior intelligence are against him, the chances of Spain in Cuba would not be improved.

The Spaniards imagine that the death of Maceo is the end of the war. This is a mistake. Maceo's death would certainly be considered by the Cubans as a tremendous misfortune, not because his loss would endanger the struggle for liberty, but because the Cubans adore him.

It was Senor Pi y Margall, Spain's illustrious statesman, who, referring to Jose Maceo's death, wrote: "Other leaders of much greater prominence have died, and the insurrection, far from abating, has waxed stronger. It is not the men, but the ideas that keep up the revolution."

Should Antonio Maceo perish somebody else will take his place. Who? No name needs to be mentioned. The right man will appear when he is needed, and the war will be prolonged until Spain is exhausted and forced to abandon the island, which has become the graveyard of her soldiers.—New York Sun.

MONSTER CLUBHOUSE.

English Conservatives Will Erect a Building to Accommodate 15,000 Members.

The Liberal clubs of London are waning in membership, while Conservative clubs boom. The Constitutional club, which for a long time, though gorgeously fitted up, had a beggarly attendance, is alive. The Conservative managers, believing their position strong enough to try a bigger venture, have entered upon a scheme grander than anything in clubs the world has yet seen.

They are inviting by private circular subscriptions for the erection of a building which is to be adapted to the uses of 15,000 members. This club is to be the focus of all Conservative movements, to have a ballroom admitting of the largest gatherings of the party, a theater for lectures or dramatic performances, cheap membership admissions and a cheap cuisine. The Carlton, Junior Carlton, Conservative, Junior Conservative and kindred groups will subscribe and patronize, but personally their members hold aloof.—New York Herald.

The Right Sort of Religion.

Mr. Moody seems to have got hold of the nub end of religion. As a general thing religious folk put the cart before the horse, but Mr. Moody has put the horse where he will do most good.

Here, for example, is a solid nugget that is worth looking at a second time. The evangelist was criticizing the cold formalism which produces the "general debility" in our churches. We may as well quote the whole paragraph, for there is enough common sense packed into it to make 40 reasonably diluted sermons:

What is killing our church prayer meetings is that men pray there who have no business to pray. Get your life right first before you come before God in prayer. "Halleluia!" and "Praise God!" is all right, but I do not want to hear it from any one who does not pay his debts. If you owe a man $5 and are keeping him out of it, go and pay it to him, if you have to live on bread and water to do it. Don't sneak around and dodge him. God hates a fraud and a sham. A prayer of a gifted man whose life is not right is like a rocking horse—beautiful in motion, but it makes no progress.—New York Herald.

A Pleasant Change.

We are glad the war is with Spain this time. We are tired of going to war with Turkey every week or two.—Chicago Post.

THE LION'S ROAR.

A Great Physical Effort Is Necessary to Produce the Full Effect.

Dr. Livingstone noted the odd resemblance of the lion's roar to that of the ostrich, says the Spectator. Mr. Millais says that though the roar of the latter is not so loud, it has exactly the same tone as that of the lion. But the ostrich always roars his best, the lion very seldom. This is partly because a "good" roar needs a great physical effort. The whole interior and muscles of the mouth, throat, stomach and abdomen are, for the moment, converted into an organ of terrific sound and the sound does make the earth tremble—or appear to do so. But the attitude is not that usually drawn. Unless he roars lying down, when he puts his head up, like a dog barking, the lion "emits his first moan in any position, then draws in his neck and lowers his head with extended jaws, right down to his forepaws, as if about to be violently sick; while at the same time the back is arched and the whole animal bears an appearance of concentrated strain."

This is Capt. Millais' phonetic rendering of the sound, taken when listening to three lions roaring at their best: "Moan—roar—r-o-a-r—roar—roar—grunt—grunt—grunt—grunt (dying away)."

Why lions roar, when it ought to pay better to keep silent, is not yet explained. General Hamilton was convinced that tigers hunting in company roar to confuse and frighten the deer. Possibly the lion roars, when prowling around a camp, in the hope of causing some of the draft animals to break loose; at other times it appears to be a form of conversation with others at a distance.

The Atmosphere.

Even if it were possible for man to live without breathing air he could not exist on the earth if it were without an atmosphere. Plants derive carbon, the most important element of their food, from the air, and without plants there could be no food for animals, and therefore no human beings. Water also comes from the atmosphere, but if there were no water there could be neither plants nor animals. If food and water could be supplied in some other way the world would still be uninhabitable by plants and animals owing to the severity of the cold. Without an atmosphere there would be no winds and consequently no waves or ocean currents. The sea—if we may suppose one to have been supplied by some unknown cause—would be a stagnant pool, uninhabitable by seaweed or fish.

A GREAT BOOK FREE.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first edition of his great work, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," he announced that after 60,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free.

As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, precisely illustrated. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manila paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away.

BIRTHPLACE OF STUART.

Little respect is paid by Americans to the birthplaces of their illustrious dead, and the old snuffmill near Narragansett pier, in which Gilbert Stuart in 1755 first saw light, is no exception to the rule, says the Art Amateur. It may safely be said that it would seldom, if ever, be visited were it not a convenient objective point for a drive from the fashionable summer resort a few miles away. The route along the old Boston Neck road affords one of the most delightful excursions in Rhode Island. For awhile it holds in view to the right a picturesque estuary, beyond which on a fine day one sees the town of Newport. After a drive of nearly five miles we cross, at right angles, the dusty highway that leads past a little white church, down the breakneck hill to the Jamestown ferry; continue a couple of miles or so along a country road, which we leave to our left to follow a bridle path through the woods, at the end of which, hitherto hidden by a screen of tall saplings and a tangle of bracken, we come upon the object of our pilgrimage. Beyond the historical associations connected with it there is absolutely nothing in it to interest the visitor. The mill itself has long since fallen into decay. As to the house, the outside has undergone very little change, and its weather-stained shingles are pleasantly suggestive of the century and a half which in a new country like the United States is antiquity itself. But the threshold once crossed, one meets only with disappointment. Not a relic of the painter or his time! Tradition has not even provided a chair in which it might be supposed that the distinguished artist had sat.
